

“Here at The Whitebrook we believe that flavours and produce out way the formalities of traditional restaurant service, we aim to ensure all guests have a relaxing and memorable dining experience.”

Chris Harrod – Chef/Patron

Restaurant Manager Andy Stoneley has followed Chris’s vision for the restaurant by creating a wine list championing local Welsh and English wines, independent growers, organic, biodynamic and natural producers and lesser-known grape varieties.

Organic wine is organic in the sense of having been produced made from organically grown grapes, but may be subject to chemical and physical manipulation in the winemaking process.

In this day and age everyone understands what is meant by organic, but biodynamic viticulture takes things a few steps further. Vineyard practices are governed by lunar cycles, the grower believes the vineyard has a soul that needs nourishing.

The approach is centred on the enrichment of the soil through natural organic matter, the aim being to increase the availability of the elements needed by the vine such as nitrogen and water, which should logically improve vine health and quality of fruit.

The winemaker forgoes the use of laboratory prepared yeasts in favour of ones that occur naturally in the vineyard, the wines often have no fining or filtration and an absolute minimal use (if any) of sulphur at any stage of the wine making process.

Natural wine is wine made with minimal chemical and technological intervention in growing grapes and making them into wine. The term is used to distinguish such wine from organic wine and biodynamic wine because of differences in cellar practices. All natural wines are, however, farmed organically at a minimum and many growers are biodynamic in the vineyard as well.

Strictly speaking, natural wines are wines that are produced without adding or removing anything during winemaking, although some growers add tiny quantities of sulphites at bottling.

To help find them in our wine list we have marked
(O) for ORGANIC (B) for BIODYNAMIC and (N) for NATURAL

A SELECTION OF FINE CLASSIC FRENCH

BIN		BOTTLE
401	Clos du Marquis, Château Léoville Las Cases, 2009, Saint-Julien, Bordeaux, France  Léoville-Las Cases was one of the first estates in Bordeaux to introduce a second label, Clos du Marquis. Léoville-Las Cases was once part of a much larger estate until the time of the French Revolution when a portion of this estate was separated into what is today Château Léoville-Barton.	78.00
402	Vosne Romanee Clos de la Fontaine, 2012, Burgundy, France  The Gros family are part of Burgundy royalty, ever since Louis Gros firmly established his domaine as one of Vosne-Romaneé's best. Today, the Gros holdings have been greatly fragmented due to French inheritance laws and there are now four different domains in operation, run by different members of the family.	95.00
403	Château Léoville-Barton, 2002, Saint-Julien, Bordeaux, France  Unlike many of its peers, Château Léoville-Barton has no château building; the wines are made at Château Langoa-Barton with which it shares ownership. The château depicted on Léoville-Barton's label is actually that of Château Langoa-Barton.	138.00
404	La Chapelle De La Mission Haut-Brion, 2000, Pessac-Leognan, Bordeaux, France  The greatest Graves wine after Haut-Brion and in some vintages is considered the superior wine of the two. La Mission-Haut-Brion is situated just across the road from Haut-Brion in the commune of Talence in the southern suburbs of Bordeaux. Since 1983, both properties have been under the same ownership, Domaine Clarence Dillon S.A. The wine is fermented in temperature-controlled, stainless steel vats and then matured in oak barriques (100% new) for 18 months. The wines of La Mission Haut Brion are rich, oaky and powerful and need at least 10 years of bottle ageing before they should be broached.	145.00
405	Château Lynch Bages, 2007, Pauillac, Bordeaux, France  One of the best-known Médoc estates and has always had a particularly strong following on this side of the English Channel. Since 1973 it has been owned by the enigmatic Jean-Michel Cazes and is now run by his son, Jean-Charles.	185.00
